

Paediatric Psychologist

My Word Health

Location: Albury, Wangaratta

Psychology, Counselling & Social Work

Capacity: Your choice! Full-time, Part-time or Casual.

Remuneration: $95,000 – $105,000 per year + Super + additional PD allowance + bonuses available.

My Word Health is looking for a Psychologist to join our close-knit team. The successful candidate can choose to work in Albury and/or Wangaratta! Opportunity can include work from home hours.

If you are interested in empowering children to live whole, healthy, and happy lives together then this is the role for you!

You will love this position if you:

Enjoy Empowering Children – Work with children and their families to help improve their quality of life!

Desire Collaborative Team Culture – Join a team that are truly passionate about making a difference, who learn from each other and celebrate wins together!

Value Career Progression – We invest in professional development with access to a generous professional development budget and regular supervision!

Want Work-Life Balance – We proudly offer flexible work arrangements, paid Team Wellness Days and Birthday Leave!

The role of a Psychologist at My Word Health is to provide assessment and intervention to a paediatric caseload by working closely with families, schools, and other health professionals to meet client goals. We care about connecting people to their world through communication and are committed to providing high quality services.

This is a new offering for our service and we are open to creating a caseload that suits the interest and skillset of the right candidate. We would be hoping to include paediatric psychology assessments as part of the role to help us serve our clients well.

If you have...

- Tertiary Qualification in Psychology
- Minimum 3 years experience
- Current AHPRA membership
- Current NSW and VIC Working With Children Check
- Valid National Police Check
- NDIS Mandatory Training Certificate
- Current Drivers Licence and reliable car
- Current First Aid Certificate
- Excellent organisation and time management skills
- Demonstrated ability to achieve outcomes and utilise evidence-based practice
- Professional, warm and empathetic approach to clients

We would love to hear from you! Apply Now!

If you are ready to excel within a fantastic practice, please apply with your resume and cover letter to Maegen Walsh at maegen@mywordhealth.com.au